Buenos días Denise,

We finished sampling monitoring wells and water level measurements last week. Everything went very smoothly and we now have 42 days (approximately) to wait for the results from DESA. We plan to tabulate the results as quickly as possible and do a few figures to present to you to determine if we have enough data to move into the report phase of the project.

Hope you are surviving this very cold winter up north – It sounds like there have been record snows everywhere!

Susan
